DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 35 is objected to because of the following informalities: This claim depends from a higher numbered claim that has been canceled. Claim 35 has been treated as if it depends from claim 34. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1,30-32,34,35,39,41,43-45 and 47-49 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Thomeer et al 6431271.

Thomeer discloses a wellbore tubular (fig. 1) having a bistable device 22 configured for deployment proximate a wellbore wall (col. 4, lines 2,3). The bistable device has a plurality of cells arranged in a tubular shape and the cells being stable in a first and in a second configuration (expanded, unexpanded) wherein the force to move the device from the first to the second configuration is greater in one direction than the other. As to claim 30, member 22 isolates a portion of a wellbore when actuated from a retracted to an extended state. As to claim 31, the bistable member 22 seals the well tubular when expanded. As to claim 32, the device is run into the well when the member 22 is in the retracted state. As to claim 34, means 19 is a conveyance means. As to claim 35, means 26 is a deployment means. As to claim 39, member 22 is radially expandable and carries sensors 30. As to claim 41, communication line 34 is along the member. As to claims 44 and 45, the communication means 34 is formed in the bistable device and is attached while the device is deployed. As to claims 47-49, sensor 30 is attached to the bistable device.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 43 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Thomeer et al (described above).

It would have been considered an obvious design choice to run the communication line along the exterior as opposed to the interior of the bistable device.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-17 and 46 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
